Conceived as a way of honoring Kappa Sigma and Gamma-Rho alumni for outstanding achievements, this award has become an integral part of our tradition here at Gamma-Rho.

Inductees are among a select group of alumni. Recognition is given to those who have excelled in their career, or in their service to the community and/or to the fraternity.

In conjunction with the A.L. Slonaker Hall of Fame inductees, Gamma-Rho also honors an alumnus as the Mike Cagalj Man of the Year each year. THEODEN JANES '93

Theoden Janes graduated from the University of Arizona in 1996 where he earned a Bachelor of Arts in Journalism. A 1993 initiate of Gamma-Rho, he served as Grand Scribe during his undergraduate years. Beyond his fraternity involvement, Theoden was a dedicated member of The Daily Wildcat, the university's independent student newspaper, where he held roles as a sports reporter, Sports Editor, and Managing Editor. After graduation, Theoden embarked on an accomplished journalism career, working for The Arizona Daily Star, The Washington Post, The Arizona Republic, and The Record in Hackensack, N.J. He has been with The Charlotte Observer since 2006, serving as a Features and Entertainment Reporter. His work has earned him numerous journalism awards from organizations such as the North Carolina Press Association, the Society of Professional Journalists, and the Society for Features Journalism. He is also an active member of the Asian American Journalists Association. Passionate about mentorship, Theoden regularly speaks to high school and college students interested in journalism. He is also an avid endurance athlete and serves as the social coordinator for a Charlotte-based running and triathlon training group with over 150 members. Theoden lives in Charlotte, North Carolina, with his wife, Amanda, and their daughter, Joie. When asked about Kappa Sigma, Theoden says, "I was an immature young man with an underdeveloped sense of purpose in my life when I entered college in 1991. Joining the Gamma-Rho chapter of Kappa Sigma and being held to certain character standards set me on a path that changed both of those things: After a rocky start to my time at the University of Arizona, the fraternity experience helped me to develop that maturity and that sense of purpose. By the time I was a junior, I was heavily involved at the student newspaper and being offered an internship at one of the best and most powerful news organizations in the U.S. I think without the lessons in discipline and the focus on character-building instilled in me by Kappa Sigma's formal and informal leaders, I would not have matured in the same way. I of course also developed deep friendships that are some of the most meaningful in my life. More than 20 years after we were initiated together, I completed my first Ironman alongside one of my closest Kappa Sigma brothers, and have stayed connected with him and other Gamma-Rho contemporaries through our shared love of endurance sports."

WEYMAN PRICE '95

Weyman Price graduated from the University of Arizona in 1998 where he earned a degree in Finance and a Certificate in International Business. A 1995 initiate of Gamma-Rho, he served as Treasurer in 1997, playing a key role in the financial management of the chapter. Following graduation, Weyman began his career as a Senior Corporate Accountant at Avnet, Inc. in Phoenix, Arizona, before pursuing his MBA at the University of Houston, which he completed in 2005. Since 2001, he has been the President of KW Receivables, leading the company with a strong financial and strategic vision. Weyman resides in Humble, Texas, with his wife, Kristen, and their two sons, Dylan (15) and Brady (13). From 2016 to 2024, he volunteered as the coach for both of his sons' soccer and basketball teams, a role that demanded a significant time commitment but brought him great joy. Today, much of his family's free time is spent traveling for their boys' competitive sports schedules. Dylan plays in the ECNL soccer league, which has taken the family to Dallas, San Antonio,

Austin, Oklahoma, and even Phoenix for a showcase tournament. This summer, they'll travel to Seattle for regional playoffs, and Weyman recently accompanied Dylan to the University of South Carolina for a talent ID event as they explore Division 1 college soccer opportunities. Meanwhile, Brady recently joined an AAU basketball team, adding more travel across the city and state alongside the boys' involvement in high school football, basketball, track, and soccer. Despite their busy schedules, the Price family makes time each year for a dedicated vacation, with past adventures including skiing in Colorado, Utah, and Nevada, beach trips to Turks and Caicos, and houseboating on Lake Powell in Arizona. Balancing his professional success with a deep dedication to his family, Weyman remains actively engaged in his community while continuing to build upon his entrepreneurial accomplishments. When asked about Kappa Sigma, Weyman says, "Joining Kappa Sigma was one of the best decisions I have ever made in my life. I made many lifelong friends and over my four year undergrad time at Gamma Rho I grew socially and matured greatly. I definitely owe a lot of my current success to Gamma Rho where I learned to respect others and their values, learned to deal with differing personalities and also overcome and manage problems that frequently arose within our group. It was definitely a learning and growing experience over those 4 years and I will never forget my time spent there."

ERIC CHAMBERS '00

Eric Chambers graduated from the University of Arizona in 2003 where he earned a Bachelor of Science in Finance. A 2000 initiate of Gamma-Rho, he was actively involved in the fraternity and served as Inner Guard. Beyond Kappa Sigma, Eric was engaged in campus leadership, serving as an ASUA Student Body Senator and a member of the prestigious Bobcat Honorary. Following his undergraduate studies, Eric pursued an MBA from Arizona State University in 2010 and went on to build a successful career in corporate finance. He currently serves as Vice President of Finance & Treasury at Amkor Technology Inc. His previous roles include Director of Treasury at Artesyn Embedded Technology, Manager of Treasury at Apollo Group, and Corporate Finance Analyst at US Airways. He is also a Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA), reflecting his deep expertise in financial management. In addition to his professional achievements, Eric is committed to community service. He is a board member of the Foundation for Senior Living (FSL), where he serves as Treasurer and Audit Committee Chairman. He is also an active member of the Scottsdale Saguaros, holding the role of BFK Treasurer. Eric resides in Scottsdale, Arizona, where he continues to balance his professional success with his dedication to philanthropy and community engagement. When asked about Kappa Sigma, Eric says, "Being part of Kappa Sigma during my college years was a transformative experience that continues to impact my life positively. Living in the Kappa Sigma house provided a unique environment where I developed strong interpersonal skills, learning to communicate effectively and work collaboratively with a diverse group of individuals. These skills have been invaluable in both my personal and professional life. Additionally, the fraternity fostered lifelong friendships; I still cherish the bonds I formed with brothers, many of whom remain close friends today. The network of connections I built through the fraternity has also been beneficial, opening doors to various opportunities and resources. Beyond the social and professional advantages, the fraternity instilled a sense of responsibility and community service, encouraging us to give back and make a difference."

ANDY HOTTOVY '00

Andy Hottovy was initiated into Gamma-Rho in 2000 and graduated from the University of Arizona in 2003 with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, majoring in Finance. During his time as an undergraduate, he served as an ASUA Student Senator from 2002 to 2003, where he played a key role in the establishment of the now-legendary Zona Zoo student section—an effort documented in the Arizona Daily Wildcat. He also led his fraternity to numerous intramural championships in softball and flag football, including a memorable moment catching the championship-winning touchdown in 2000, despite a wardrobe malfunction that only added to the legend. Professionally, Andy has built an impressive career at Oaktree Capital Management, L.P., where he has worked for the past 19 years. As a Managing Director, he leads the U.S. Investment Compliance, Regulatory Reporting, and Surveillance Teams. Oaktree is a global investment management firm with $202 billion in assets under management, specializing in alternative investments. Andy also holds the Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) designation. Beyond the office, Andy is committed to community service. He's a member of the Oaktree Abilities Team, which works to remove barriers related to disabilities and promote inclusion within the workplace and broader community. Through this group, he has partnered with Mychal's Learning Place in Los Angeles. He's also an active volunteer with Reading to Kids, has served two years as a Cub Scout Cubmaster, and coaches youth baseball. Andy lives in Redondo Beach, California, with his wife Laura and their two sons, Nolan (age 9), a Cub Scout, and Luke (age 7), who loves both basketball and baseball. A passionate University of Arizona alumnus, Andy is a basketball season ticket holder and frequently tailgates with fellow Wildcats. When asked about Kappa Sigma, he says, "Being connected to Arizona and Kappa Sigma means a great deal to me. Many of my closest friends that I speak with on a day-to-day basis are those I met on the basketball court at the Kappa Sigma House. I lived at the house for a year and really appreciate the friendships and connections I made during those four years. I still keep in touch with over 20 of my pledge bros and we just had another Sweet 16 run, and I am getting texts all over the place for the same guys I shared limburger nachos with or cleaned that K Sig courtyard with as a pledge. What a wonderful experience that I wouldn't change for anything."

JOHN SALMON '00

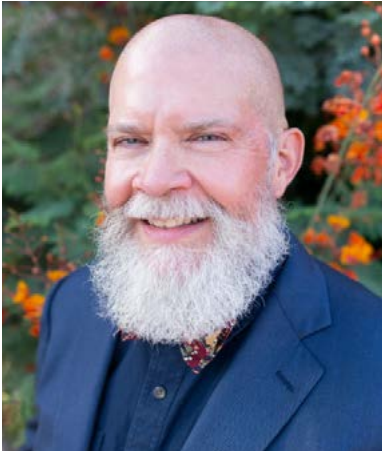

John Salmon is a 2000 initiate of Gamma-Rho. Since graduating with a B.S. in Finance in 2003, John has built an impressive career in escrow. As an Escrow Officer at Glen Oaks Escrow, he has consistently ranked among the top revenue earners (DPK) nationwide since First American Title (FAF) acquired the company in 2022. His leadership, expertise, and dedication have made him one of the most respected professionals in the industry. Beyond his career in escrow, John is an active real estate investor, a passion he has pursued for over two decades, often in partnership with his fellow Kappa Sig brothers, Sam Chang and Eric Chambers. His ability to build meaningful business relationships within the brotherhood exemplifies the lifelong bonds formed in Kappa Sigma. John's commitment to Gamma-Rho has remained strong since his undergraduate years, where he served as Outer Guard. As an alumnus, he has continued to give back, including his generous contribution to the courtyard project, which has enhanced the chapter house for future generations. His support of Arizona Athletics further reflects his dedication to the university community. Residing in Agoura Hills, CA, John is a devoted family man, sharing his life with his wife, Greta, and their two children, Ella (8) and Kit (4). When asked about Kappa Sigma, John says, "Going to college can be overwhelming for many people, as it's a big change and easy to get lost in it. Joining Kappa Sig and becoming a brother in the Gamma-Rho chapter was easily the best way to form great friendships, many of which continue to this day."

MAN of the YEAR

FRED RONSTADT '16

Frederick holds a Master of Public Administration from the University of Arizona's Eller College and a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Secondary Education. He also brings experience in finance, training coordination, and emergency services—giving him a multifaceted lens on leadership and impact. His work is grounded in building relationships, navigating complexity, and bringing people together to solve problems that matter.

Frederick Ronstadt has spent his career at the intersection of public service, nonprofit leadership, and community development. With experience spanning elected office, nonprofit management, and the private sector, he brings a deep understanding of how to build strategic partnerships and lead organizations through transformation.

His public service began with two terms on the Tucson City Council, where he championed policy initiatives, worked across political lines, and helped secure vital resources for the community. In the years that followed, he held leadership roles as Executive Director for both the North Fourth Avenue Merchants Association and the Tucson Utility Contractors Association. Most recently, as Site Director at Higher Ground, Frederick played a key role in lifting a local school's grade from an F to a B, while expanding partner engagement and launching a community development association.

As House Manager for the Gamma-Rho Chapter Housing Corporation, Frederick plays a vital role in maintaining the chapter's physical and organizational legacy. His service ensures that future generations of Kappa Sigma brothers have a safe and stable place to grow, lead, and connect. Beyond the logistics of housing operations, his involvement reflects a larger commitment to mentorship and alumni engagement.

Frederick continues to be active in the broader Tucson community, having served as Board Chair of the Southern Arizona AIDS Foundation and co-producing The Fred and Jeff Show, a local broadcast highlighting the region's people and stories. Whether through public policy, nonprofit leadership, or fraternity involvement, Frederick remains dedicated to strengthening the fabric of Southern Arizona—one project, one partnership, and one relationship at a time.
